

BIO:

Dan Gilmartin,
History professor,
Seminole State College

Dan Gilmartin was born in Queens NY but moved to Sanford, Florida in 1956. He graduated from Seminole High School in Sanford in 1965.

He has BA in political science from University of West Florida and an MA in history from the University of Central Florida. He also served as a newspaper reporter for the Sanford Herald and the Hialeah Home News in the 1970's.

Professor Gilmartin has been a history professor at Seminole State College for 30 years and is also an adjunct instructor at the University of Central Florida.

His article on Forrest Lake appears in the spring 1996 edition of Florida Historical Quarterly. It is entitled "Mayor Forrest Lake of Sanford."